Environmental Education & Awareness

Litter

Waterford City & County Council continues to offer assistance throughout the year to the general public and schools to clean up litter and illegally dumped waste from their local environs e.g. approach roads, local beauty spots, beaches and general public areas. These clean ups are ongoing and extremely busy this year not just with group clean ups but with an increased number of individuals and families taking part.

The regional dog fouling campaign is ongoing. The first 6 social media posts and 3 bilingual leaflets have been designed and are scheduled to be released online between now and mid July. These cover the first two themes of the “Bag it, Bin it” campaign, which address the responsibility of the dog owner to clean up after a dog and the effects that dog fouling has on others in the community. We are currently contacting the Irish Wheelchair Association, Waterford Childcare Committee, etc. to highlight the effects of dog fouling on others in the community. Radio advertisements in relation to the campaign have been broadcast on WLR FM. Waterford City & County Council have also been working with community groups across Waterford to get the anti-dog fouling message out; a dozen communities have come on board to date and some of these have availed of the local Litter Awareness grant to support their activities. These communities have received help in creating videos, social media content, stencils on footpaths, awareness days and dog litter counts, etc. We are keen to work with other communities and groups also on this issue. Online and local activities over the summer months will ensure that awareness of the responsibilities of dog owners in relation to dog fouling will be highlighted. An education pack will be worked on over the summer months and released for use in schools and youth groups in September. A mid campaign boost the campaign is planned with a small number of responsible dog owners being rewarded with a high visibility dog jacket; this will be used to maintain momentum for the campaign and restate the importance of picking up after dogs as the evenings begin to grow darker. A regional ad campaign will feature on Beat FM at this time also, along with additional social media content, etc.

Tidy Towns

The national Tidy Towns competition entry form is due to be available online this month, with groups encouraged to include relevant photographs wherever possible with their entries in case judging cannot take place in person due to COVID-19. Groups must also submit their application online for the first time. With this in mind, a webinar on how to write an application was held for Tidy Towns groups on 13th April and included a talk by National Tidy Towns Adjudicator Fiona MacGowan. The webinar was well attended.

Biodiversity

A Sustainable Gardening course which was held over the last five weeks has now finished. There was great interest in this course and Tidy Towns, community groups and community gardens were prioritised for places. Feedback has been excellent from the course, with participants commenting on how much practical advice they received on how to compost, reduce waste, take cuttings, how to identify what creatures live in your area etc.

Let Dandelions Bee – this campaign encourages leaving dandelions grow during March and April, instead of mowing them and is in line with the All Ireland Pollinator Plan. This provides early pollinators such as bees with an early source of food. This is of great importance to pollinators and is a simple action that we can all take. Signs are also being put in place on grassy verges to highlight that the grass is being left uncut to help pollinators such as bees.

Schools

This year, Green Schools assessments and visits are taking place online, in accordance with An Taisce’s recommendations. An Taisce has extended the assessment deadline until the end of the school year to reflect this nationwide trend. The number of renewals and assessments are considerably lower this year, with many schools choosing to defer until 2022.
