Strategic Issues Paper

The preparation of the new Waterford City & County Development Plan will take two years to complete and will involve three stages of public consultation. As part of the first stage, the Planning Authority is engaging in pre-draft public consultation with the general public and a wide range of organisations and interest groups.

In order to stimulate debate and encourage participation at this first stage, a Strategic Issues Paper and a dedicated online consultation portal has been prepared providing a synopsis of the plan making process and suggested issues affecting development in the city and county.

A copy of the Strategic Issues Paper is available at consult.waterfordcouncil.ie along with other material to assist in understanding the development plan and its process. Copies of the Strategic Issues Paper can also be obtained at the following locations, during normal working hours, from Monday 20th July 2020 until Monday 14th September 2020 (both dates inclusive):

Public Consultation Events

While Waterford City & County Council wishes to ensure that the draft development plan will be informed by public engagement, as a result of Covid 19, new ways of communicating fully with the public and interest parties will be required at this pre-draft stage. To this end it is intended to hold a number of public webinars throughout the public consultation period, full details of which will be posted on the consultation portal consult.waterfordcouncil.ie and in local press. Individuals, groups, organisations or representatives will be invited to discuss any element or issues stemming from the existing Waterford City, Waterford County or Dungarvan Town Development Plans and to play a part in shaping the new Waterford City and County Development Plan 2022 – 2028. In the interim members of the public are advised to engage with the consultation portal, the strategic issues paper and associated online content which are specifically designed to facilitate the easy making of submissions.
